Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from New Departures in Collegiate Control and Culture Rev. Caleb Mills, the first instructor, and for nearly forty years, Professor of Greek at Wabash College, Indiana, was born at Dunbarton, N. H. July 29th, 1806; graduated at Dartmouth College in 1828, and, at Andover Theological Seminary, in 1833. He had previously spent one year in Kentucky and Southern Indiana, in Sunday school work, and, upon removal to Crawfordsville, Indiana, with his wife, in the fall of 1833, he combined with educational Sunday school and missionary work, most earnest labor for the development of that common school system, which is now the pride of Indiana, and may justly recognize him, as its father. In 1846, when the governors message, as usual at that date, ignored common schools, Professor Mills, in his peculiarly striking and direct method, published a Message to the Legislature signed, one of the people This was followed by pithy Annual Messages, year by year, until he became state superintendent of Education. In that relation, as well as in that of college officer, he impressed...
